Hi everyone:

The licensing board just made a change in the application form for Licensed Mental Health Counselors. The application has streamlined some things — and one important change is the documentation for the practicum and internship hours. With the old application, the practicum and internship supervisors signed off on the applicant’s hours — and there was a 2-page worksheet to document all the required information.

In the new application, the program director here on campus now signs off on a single page — in other words, I now verify that you’ve completed the required hours for practicum and internship. So, this means that at the end of the program, you should get the required form signed off by me to verify that you’ve completed the requirements for practicum and internship (and the course work is also verified on the same form).

We’ll put copies of the new form on the bulletin board in the hallway outside Sue Volungis’s office.
